Supreme Court Disposes of Number of Knotty Problems in Law.

from the Circuit Courts of the various counties.

In the cause of Stultz vs. Fratt, a quo warranto proceeding from the Circuit Court of Henry county, Judge John A. Buchanan delivered the opinion of the Appellate Court, reversing the judgment of the court below and entering such order as the Circuit Court should have entered.

of the court below and entering such order as the Circuit Court should have entered.

In this case, Thomas G. Pratt, through the Commonwealth's Attorney of the county, instituted a glo warranto proceeding against Bruce Stultz to determine which of the two was the legal and rightful superintendent of the poor of the county. The writ was presented to the judge in vication and was made returnable on the Brist day of the next term of the court, which was a special term.
The defendant Stultz, appeared and moved the court to quash the indictment on the ground that it was not legally returnable to nor cognizable by the court at that term. The court overruled the motion, and an exception was noted. The question involved is whether or not the word term in the statute bearing on the subject is to be construed as meaning a special or regular term. Judge Buchanan holds that the writ should have been made returnable at the next regular term, not a special term. Where the word term is used in the statutes the true rule of construction is that it means a regular term fixed by law. For these reasons the judgment complained of is reversed.

Mrs. Allen Wins. Mrs. Allen Wins.

In the case of the Richmond Passenger and Power Company vs. Allen, from the Law and Equity Court of the City of Richmond, Judge Buchanan delivers the opinion of the court, affirming the judgment of the lower court, which is declared to be "plainty right."

Mrs. Sally W. Allen was driving with a companion along Lester Street, in Fulton, in a closed vehicle, upon the tracks of the company, when the vehicle was struck by a car from behind, causing the horse to run away and injuring the plain-night, and forty homoless men were made comfortable. Mrs. Buchanan has just received a letter from a young white girl whom she had cared for at the mission. The girl, who is only twenty years of age, got into scrious trouble in Petersburg. Coming to Richmond, without friends or money, and with an infant in arms, the girl would probably have died had not a kind hearted colored woman taken pity on her forlorn condition and befriended her.

For a night the old mammy sheltered the girl, and then took her to Mrs. Buchanan at the mission. Here she was cared for and finally sent home to her parents, who, through Mrs. Buchanan's interession, had become reconciled to her.

The girl writes now that she is anxious to return to Richmond's und find some means of livelihood. This is an instance of the good work the mission is doing. Aisles Clear and Fresh Air in the

"The cause of the proudness and unmovedness was the extreme beauty of the renovated court-room. As spick and span as a new pin it is, and of a whiteness equal to the marble of Carrara or the song of "Beautiful Snow."

The ever fathful Gibbons has had new lights installed, which shine out as does the wisdom of His Honor, penetrating the obscurities of the darkest reesses.

No more shall the windows be crowded; the alsles are to be kept clear, and all must find seats or be banished to the cold and uninteresting corridor.

The purpose of the bill, as stated by Judge Harrison is to procure the outstanding legal title in James F. Phillips, administrator of Barnett Wicker, trustee, and at the same time, by way of removing a cloud from that title, to have cancelled and annulled the deed to a third party who is in possession, holding as purchaser from the Commonwealth. The complainant has only an equitable title, while the defendant is in actual possession under a tax title deed. The court holds that the doctrine is well settled that only those who have a clear legal and equitable title to land, with possession, have a right to claim the interference of a court bf equity to give them peace or dissipate a cloud on the title. A person out of possession cannot maintain such a bill. The appellee who, is asserting a purely equitable claim, cannot in such a suit implead the appellant against whom he has no equity for the purpose of enforcing a purely equitable right to prosecute his more appellent in the appellence has the right to prosecute his

At the expiration of the first term it should be optioned with the lessor to continue the lease for a second ten-year term, on the same terms, upon giving six months' notice of his purpose to renew prior to the expiration of the first term. The lessor agreed if the lease was not so continued to pay lessee full value of the buildings to be creeted, the method of valuation being stipulated. If the lessor falled to pay for the buildings os covenanted, the lessee should be 'entitled to hold over as tenant from year to year, subject to the ordinary notice to terminate the tenancy at the end of any year, which time lessor should pay for the buildings. Until such payment for the buildings. Until such payment for the buildings. Until such payment for the buildings on increase of rent should be demanded by lessor.

Lessee took immediate possession, creeted the buildings. The six months' notice to continue the lease was not given, but lessee romained in undisturbed possession and continued to pay taxes and the rent, and lessor to receive such rental until January 1, 1903. At that date lessee was in arrears for rent, and entered upon him that he was at that time a tenant from year to year, and that the tenancy would expire January 1, 1903, at which time he would be expected to surrender possession of the premises until the buildings were paid for. The court holds that the case is that by the terms of the lease the lessor was not entitled to recover possession of the premises until the buildings were paid for. The court holds that the sace, entitled the lesse at the can of the lesse of bleece vs. Grice. The failure of the lesse, of the buildings. Mr. John E. "I dirmly believe," said Mr. Hughes, "that Governor Montague will earry Danville by a much larger majority in the senatorial primary than was given him there for Governor in 1901. So far as I am able to judge, he has gained rather than lost ground, and his friends appear determined to give him a good majority. He has some strong and influential friends in Pittsylvania county as well, and will make a fine run there. I am out in the State a good deal, and I am much encouraged at the outlook for the Governor's success."

President John Rose, of the Twin City League, has called the league to meet at the Manhattan Club on Monday night to discuss the proposition of the park owners for the use of the park.

The league offers the owners the proposition of twenty per cent, of the gross recelpts for the park from April 15th to September 25th, to be used every Wodnesday, Saturday and holiday.

The owners agree to this with the provision that should the Eastern League desire to place the Montreal team here, the contract would be null.

The Twin City "magnates" object to this on the grounds that they were the first to put in a bid for the park, and that it would not be doing the players tailty staring them in the face.
